The Pierce-Arrow Museum is the only museum dedicated solely to the preservation of the vehicles, bicycles, literature and other artifacts of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company of Buffalo, New York. Building motor cars from 1901 to 1938, this company built the finest automobiles money could buy.

In 1999, the Pierce-Arrow Foundation was established by interested members of the Pierce-Arrow Society as an adjunct to the enthusiasts' group. On May 1, 2004 the Pierce-Arrow Museum opened the doors to its own 6400 square foot building. The museum is operated by the Pierce-Arrow Foundation, a 501(c)(3) educational tax exempt non-profit corporation.

Located on the Gilmore Car Museum campus near Kalamazoo, Michigan, the museum is visited by over 150,000 people each year. The museum's annual operating expenses are supported solely by donations and memberships to the Pierce-Arrow Foundation.

It has taken the dedication of many people to get us this far. We need your help and financial support to pursue the dream of preserving the history of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company.

All museum memberships include admission to the entire Gilmore Car Museum complex for member and spouse. All membership fees and donations are fully tax deductible.
